

The Association of Corporate-Affiliated Optometrists

Member Benefits

Part of our mission as an Association is to help you grow your practice. Today's market requires a strong online presence.

Energieyes members receive a FREE website courtesy of our partner, EyeCarePro. EyeCarePro has additional services available to make your online marketing effort yield strong results. . Click here to learn more.

Each year the Energieyes Association hosts a two day national meeting bring corporate-affiliated optometrists together from coast to coast. The only meeting of its kind, all of our 30 hours of education is targeted to an OD in corporate practice. The networking possibilities are endless and all of this is brought to you for a minimal cost. Comparable meetings cost between $600 and $800. Members attend our national meeting for $299.

Energieyes members are entitled to participate at no charge in a national Office Depot discounting program that is saving our members between 10% and 35% on their office supplies, office equipment and printing needs.

Energieyes provides members with detailed research papers on a variety of products including OCT, Anterior Segment cameras, and EHR systems to help you make decisions about the products that best meet your practice needs. Favorable discounts are also negotiated to ensure members receive the best value.

The Energieyes Association has a special relationship with SECO International, one of optometry's major education events. Energieyes members receive a discounted enrollment to SECO each year and a special 'SECO Sunday' just for Energieyes members which offers a full day of education specific to corporate affiliated optometrists.

A special arrangement has been made with one of the leading law firms in the country specializing in contract law. Your membership provides instant access to attorney's that understand your business and what can and cannot be accomplished in your corporate lease. Take the guesswork out of your renegotiation.

Our Medical Billing and Coding seminars go deep into teaching you how to bill accurately and appropriately for your medical services. Learn how to get on insurance panels and grow your practice by providing additional medical services within your practice.

Each month, Energieyes features a COPE approved webinar on clinical topics important to your practice. Earn credit while enhancing your practice knowledge and skills. As a member, these webinars are brought to you free of charge usually in after-work hours and direct to your home or desk. All presentations are recorded for access at a later date.

From time to time, the need to hire staff or a new Associate arises and thankfully the Association has provided for this. Through a special arrangement with CovalentCareers, Energieyes members receive their first job search at no charge on this optometry-specific job search site.

Most Associations don't tout their newsletter, but the Energieyes newsletter is a must read. Read by over 4,000 corporate-affiliated optometrists and industry professionals, there is something for everyone in our monthly communication. Click here to view our archives.

In early 2014, the Energieyes Association made a commitment to our upcoming optometry students and new graduates providing free membership until their second year of practice and a robust mentoring program for students entering the field with a corporate-affiliated practice. Student and new graduate members have the same privileges as members without the cost.

Coming Soon...

The Dry Eye Centers of America is yet another innovation to support our members in growing their practice into greater medical services. DECA is a turnkey blueprint for creating a Dry Eye Center of excellence in member practices providing marketing, treatment protocols, discounted products and services and education. The Association seeks to open 50 Dry Eye Centers across the US with our members in the coming 18 months.